

MACON MOSAICS.

NEWS OF INTEREST CULLED IN THE CENTRAL CITY.

Francis C. Hutchinson Compromises for Two Thousand and Five Hundred—After a Day's Trial, the Parties Compromise—Criminal Docket to be taken up on Monday, May 30, 1886.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—On December 15, 1883, a passenger train collided with a freight train near No. 9, Central railroad, and Francis C. Hutchinson, engineer of the freight train, was injured, as he claimed, permanently. He brought suit for damages against the Central Railroad and Banking company for damages sustained. All day yesterday the case dragged its weary length along, the attorneys on each side contesting every point. Today, however, an adjustment was made between the attorneys and Mr. Hutchinson agreed to accept two thousand five hundred dollars as an indemnity for his injuries in the accident. Superior court was then adjourned until Monday, June 1, at which time the criminal docket will be taken up. Among the cases of interest before the criminal side of the court is that of Darby, for murder.

Various other cases that will excite considerable interest are set down for trial next week.

The remaining railroad cases on the civil side were not reached.

Sawyer Sent Up.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—Peter C. Sawyer was tried before Judge Patterson, in recorder's court, today, and sentenced to pay fifteen dollars fine or remain in the city prison for thirty days.

Your correspondent interviewed Mr. Sawyer in his cell, and the man seemed to be very wild and incoherent in his remarks. In regard to his row with Judge Subers yesterday, he only said that he accused Mr. Subers in a mild way and asked why he was against him so as to make it appear that he, Subers, would not trust him, Sawyer, as far as he would, other men?

Becoming enraged at his reply, he flew in a passion and said some pretty rough things.

As to Mr. Sawyer's unsoundness of mind there can be little doubt. He virtually acknowledged to your correspondent, as was present yesterday, that he had no control at times over his mental faculties. He has suffered severely in consequence of a general breaking down of his vital powers. He is now troubled with softening of the brain, and his powers of utterance have been seriously impaired by repeated strokes of paralysis. He has a mania for lawsuits, and argues his cases sleeping or waking, even on the streets, before his jury. The mania for lawsuits, and argues his cases sleeping or waking, even on the streets, before his jury. The mania for lawsuits, and argues his cases sleeping or waking, even on the streets, before his jury.

It seemed useless for two men to stand out against two other men of intelligence in a case of that sort, and so these two subscribed to the general verdict. After the jury had returned the jury were ordered, or more just than the critics, and now that the matter has been placed on record, your correspondent, as foreman of that jury, is prepared to abide by the verdict.

Badly Frightened.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—There is a new secret society formed in this city, and among the uninitiated was, at a recent meeting, a public official. Being noted for his personal courage, this man was placed in an awkward position, as a result of being in the city, a short time ago, he grew nervous and started toward the rear window through which the sickly light of a waning moon was shedding its lack lustre rays. About midway he stopped, and looking back over his shoulder, he saw the face of a man, and he was so badly frightened that he fled, and when the senior high school opened it, the officer exclaimed:

"See here, there's a corpse in here. Somebody has been murdered and concealed in this room."

The senior high school stood aghast and looked long and hard at the officer as though he feared a case of jumpans. At last he brought a light into the room, and the repeated assurances of the officer, and lo! there was the corpse, partly covered with a coarse blanket, his pale features glowing with a pale and ghastly light.

A retreat was hastily made, a committee appointed, and after many hesitations an investigation was entered upon.

It turned out to be a full grown dummy that had figured in more than one death scene, and had been hidden away in that seldom used apartment for future reference.

The officer still believes it was placed there to test his personal courage, and has grown so indignant that he has refused to point out the office of supreme superstition in the new order. That dummy will prove the undoing of some citizen yet.

Mr. Few's Vindication.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—Mr. J. M. Few, the sawmill man, feels that he has been injured by a paragraph which appeared in THE CONSTITUTION some days ago. The facts of the case, as your correspondent can glean from the papers, are as follows: Mr. Few is a man to whom he was indebted, that he would pay them as soon as he could get cars to transfer the lumber to the yard, where he could dispose of it and realize money. He caught in or on the cars were hard to get. Mr. Few became ill and other complications arose. The negroes, ignorant of the facts, and not taking into consideration the extraordinary circumstances of the case, applied to the foreman of laborers, who was granted before Judge Freeman. Yesterday Mr. Few, having perfected his arrangements, came to the city and settled his indebtedness to the foreman of laborers, and the case was closed. Mr. Few refused the costs, which they had to pay themselves.

Alpha Tau Omega.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—At the residence of Colonel C. M. Wiley, tonight the Alpha Tau Omega reading club held their semi-monthly meeting. The couples in attendance were Mr. C. W. Findlay and Miss Minnie Rockwell, J. S. Schofield, Jr., Miss Emma Hunt, W. K. Wheatley, Miss Florence Roberts, T. H. Boone, Miss F. E. Reese, J. R. Terrell, Miss Kittie Freeman, R. E. Findlay, Miss Winnie Wilcox, S. H. Rogers, Miss Ruth Dandowood, W. E. Hawkins, Miss Bessie Goodwin, J. D. Kilpatrick, Mrs. W. H. Hardeman, W. E. Thomas, Miss Maud Campbell, E. P. Anderson, Miss Blanche Hall, J. W. Palmer, Miss Clara Burghard, P. Zellers, Miss Maud Wilburn. A delightful programme was as usual carried out in a pleasant manner.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—Yesterday Recorder Winters granted a drive of cattle in East Macon and started to the pound with them. At the bridge he was headed off by one white man and three negroes. All four were summoned to appear before the recorder today on charges of resisting an officer. The white man was released, but the three negroes were fined five dollars for two and two and a half for the other.

Spicy Specials.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—The street car drivers seem to have a keener notion of speed than revenue. They sometimes, very frequently, drive by a would-be passenger at such a gallop as to render it impossible to the weary traveler. This is very annoying to ladies especially, and should be looked after.

Work on Plant's new offices on Cherry street progresses favorably and they will soon be ready for occupancy. They are very handsome and are built upon the most improved plans.

The students of Mercer and the other schools are all recovering their health, and no further instances of fatality are anticipated.

The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road will change their gauge between Macon and Atlanta on Tuesday next.

John Teasdale Newberry, of Twigs, was in the city yesterday, and says that crops are flourishing in that corner of the vineyard.

Mr. Ferrell, from Augusta, has assumed the management of the Macon office of the Western Union telegraph company, in this city. Mr. W. W. Friend has resigned.

Malory, of the Macon club, has been released to lessen expense. Mr. Malory is a good player, and will doubtless soon get a job.

Mr. Joe Kuhl's foot was badly mashed by falling with one foot under the street car rail last night. Driver, unable to see him in the darkness, ran over his foot, mashing it pretty badly.

W. H. Turner, the only travelling officer for Stevens' pottery, passed through the city with six prisoners yesterday.

This evening Bent Carter and Mary Burns, two notorious negroes, engaged in a fearful row on Fourth street. Mary stabbed Bent twice in the face, one wound being quite serious, under the eye. Mary was arrested by Officers Long and Thorpe and locked up. Bent is in a serious condition.

Two white men engaged in a free fight on Fourth street this evening, and both were locked up. A negro drove a wheelbarrow and ran over a white lifting a barrel of whisky at Sam Weche's house this evening.

W. H. Turner, the only travelling officer for Stevens' pottery, passed through the city with six prisoners yesterday. Both are in the city prison.

Personal Paragraphs.

MACON, Ga., May 28.—[Special.]—Colonel and Mrs. Walter B. Hill have returned from a visit to Europe and Va. today.

Bishop Key, lately elected, is in the city. Miss Fannie Dub, of Savannah, is visiting Mrs. Valerius here.

Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Barfield leave for a visit to Indian Springs for some time.

DEATH LURKS IN A KISS.

STRANGE POISONING OF A LITTLE BOY.

A Most Remarkable Case Which is Puzzling the Medical Profession—How an Old Gentleman Suffering with Pyæmia Communicates the Disease to His Grandson by Kissing.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The death of little George Cutler, the two-year old child of Dr. George Cutler, of Bedford Avenue and Taylor street, Brooklyn, at the residence of his grandfather, Mr. John D. Prince, in Flatbush, has given rise to much speculation on the part of eminent physicians, and the real cause of death will no doubt be the theme of medical debate for years to come. The strange symptoms and suddenness of death make the case a remarkable one. Grandfather Cutler who appears to have been the primary, though of course innocent cause of the little one's taking off, is well known in New York philanthropic circles and has had much to do with the betterment of the condition of state prison inmates. About six weeks ago Dr. Cutler's mother died of diphtheria, and shortly afterwards her husband, who had been alling with throat and ear troubles, the supposed result of blood poisoning, visited his son, the doctor, at his Bedford Avenue residence, for the purpose of obtaining his advice. Mr. Cutler was more dead than alive when he reached his son's house, and had to be aided upstairs. Dr. Cutler, Dr. Latham, and several other specialists who had been called in, saw that there was no hope for the old gentleman and determined that it was his time to go. He died shortly afterwards.

When he entered the house his two little grandchildren, Essie, aged four years, and George, aged one year and eleven months, ran to meet him and took him by the arms and kissed him. It is not known whether or not he kissed George, but it is thought that he did not. On the day following Essie was taken with the diphtheria, and that time up to the present has been so painful between life and death. Fearful of results should the disease be communicated to George, the parents obtained the services of a trained nurse and sent the little one to its mother's parents in Flatbush. This was on Sunday two weeks ago. The little fellow was as lively as a cricket from that time up to Tuesday last week. A small sore began to work its way through the skin on the right side of the neck. At first it was scarcely visible, but it grew rapidly and caused the little fellow much uneasiness. A small plaster was placed over it in order to prevent his scratching it. The first indication was that he tore the plaster away and made a slight incision in it with his nails. As he grew visibly worse minute by minute Dr. Homer L. Bartlett, who is a near neighbor of Mr. Prince, was summoned and at once diagnosed the case and announced that the little one had diphtheria of the most malignant form. On Wednesday the child began to grow sicker and on Thursday, a prominent specialist was called in consultation. Dr. Cutler was also summoned, and the three remained at the bedside of the little sufferer until Thursday morning, when George died. The little one was buried in Greenwood on Friday.

The general impression prevails that little Essie was impregnated with the poison through kissing her grandfather, and that she afterwards, even before she had shown symptoms of the disease, had communicated the disease to her little brother through kissing him, as the two were constant playfellows; and were seldom out of each other's company.

Dr. Bartlett could not see yesterday, but the reporter saw and had a conversation with Mr. John D. Prince, who said:

"I think that the case is one of the most remarkable on record. In the first place, we had no thought of danger, and little George had merely been removed to my house to avoid any possible though not anticipated danger. The first indication was that the wrong thing was the appearance of the little sore, scarcely larger than a pimple at first, but which spread rapidly. Dr. Bartlett was immediately called in, and other eminent physicians, among them Dr. Ingraham, did all in their power to save him, but without avail. Dr. Bartlett said that the poor little fellow's system was thoroughly permeated with the poison, and that the only hope of saving him was to keep him from eating and drinking. He was given strychnine and other powerful medicines, but to no purpose. George's grandfather, Cutler, was not especially suffering from throat trouble, but with little of the ears, his throat was badly inflamed, and he was unable to swallow. He was a young man of the most energetic and cheerful disposition, and his friends and family relations of both the prosecutor and the defendant.
